KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 22, 1926.

When asked in London recently for his opinion of jazz, Richard Strauss sidestepped, but rather significantly remarked that jazz is negro music and that he is a European.

The offer of four million rubles failed to pull off a revolution in England, whose startled labor leaders turned down Moscow's proposed contribution and then hurried to make peace.

The Federal Trade Commission forbids "Irish lace" made in China to be sold thus labeled in this country. How about the numerous American "makers" that go on the market under popular foreign labels?

The Supreme Court holds that the three year limitation applies to false swearing to an income tax return, so it would pay for the Treasury officials to get busy and cease to be three years in arrears in checking up the returns.

That astonishing estimate of only 147 unemployed persons in Paris must have included only those actually looking for work. To say nothing of the wealthy leisure class, it could not have taken account of the numerous impetuous persons determined to live without labor.

It is estimated by the National Fire Protection Association that six per cent of the country's fires were caused by careless smokers and that other carelessness brought the total number of fires so caused up to ten per cent. Many would have expected an even larger percentage.

Clemenceau, when invited to meet Jackie Coogan, begged to be excused on the ground that he was not distinguished enough to seek such an honor, but it seems that Clemenceau, more appreciative of glory or more curious, consented to be received in audience by the twin movie potentates, "Doug and Mary."

Another problem confronting the League of Nations is that Abyssinians, after being admitted to membership on condition that an end would be put to the slave trade within its borders, has failed to do so. Africa has known slavery ever since the dawn of history and the institution dies hard.

Cigarette smokers have quoted the London Lancet innumerable times to cigar and pipe smokers, rarely failing to have their memory or the accuracy of their information questioned. This adds interest to the following in a May 13 "Twenty-five Years Ago Today" column: "An article published in The Lancet declared cigarettes less injurious than cigars or a pipe."

EARNINGS OF SCREEN STARS.

Though the "movie" are still relatively cheap at the box office, the amount of money that goes into their production is so huge as to be almost incredible. Consider the statement in an article in the Motion Picture Classic that the payroll of film actors a year ago reached the vast sum of seven and a half million dollars a week and that the amount expended was even greater during the past twelve months. It is a surprise to learn that Harold Lloyd, who has made his own productions as well as bonds his own company of players, is the "biggest earner of London," his profits running up to $40,000 a week or two million dollars a year. The public is in truth willing to pay for a laugh. That is why Charlie Chaplin is the next biggest earner, and Douglas Fairbanks the third, with his share of two with thirty that brings him something like $20,000 a week. The often humorous Morgan is credited with $12,000 a week.

Another surprise is that Clark Gable earns $10,000 a week compared with Mary Pickford's $6,000—which may help to explain the former's easy conquest of a French wife. We read that Lin Hixson took eight to ten thousand a week, and that John Barrymore and Rudolph Valentino are paid $100,000 a picture; that Constance Talmadge earns $2,000 a week and several others about the same, including Constance Talmadge and Eugene O'Brien, John

Gilbert of "Big Parade" fame has been working for $2,000 a week, but is likely to demand and receive more. And so on. There are dozens of screen actors whose earnings must make stars of the speaking stage indignant as well as envious. But, inasmuch as the public can see the silent drama for so much less money than the spoken, so very general sympathy with complaint from "legitimate" circles can be expected.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

A CLIMATE SOCIETY.

In these days when we are thinking of all the different methods of treating ailments, and we learn that the surgeons have their special conventions, likewise the general practitioners, the public health physicians, those treating ear, nose, and throat, those treating tuberculosis, and so forth.

In Belgium recently there was a meeting of the International Congress of Medical Climatology. Just think of that for a moment, physicians coming from all parts of the world to discuss the effect of climate upon health or on ill health.

One physician gave an account of the results from treatment by the sun in a series of 2,000 patients. He stated that, speaking generally, fully 75 per cent of tuberculous persons can be subjected to this treatment without harm. The sun does not cause congestion nor hemorrhage, whether the treatment is given at a mountain or a plain sanatorium.

Even in those cases where there is an accumulation of air or gas squeezing one lung, and preventing it from working, thus making the other work faster, it has been found quite safe to use the sun treatment.

Another ailment, aside from tuberculosis, which is benefited by sun treatment, is where the patient is recovering from pleurisy. Physicians, particularly insurance examiners, will tell you that pleurisy is very often a forerunner of tuberculosis. In fact a history of frequent attacks of pleurisy means rejection by many insurance companies.

Patients with the slowly developing bronchitis were also greatly helped by sun treatment. When we remember the great number of bronchitis cases that go on to tuberculosis, we can see how the sun can do its curative work on a pre-tuberculous case.

The lungs are a very soft tissue indeed, and it is surprising that more damage is not done to them by thoughtlessness and carelessness. However by gradually exposing a portion of the body daily to the sun for a limited time, and gradually increasing the part exposed, and the length of time, wonderful results are obtained in these chest cases.

Today's Story in New York History

By Frederic A. Godcharia.
(Copyright, 1926, by the Author)

Stormy Administration of Director-General Van Twiller, Who Was Born May 22, 1606.

Wouter Van Twiller became Director-General of New Netherland in April, 1633. The youthful and inexperienced director was born in Wilker, Holland, May 22, 1606, and was therefore only twenty-seven years of age, and his faults were those of a young man unused to authority and hindered by his instructions.

He was the first born in the family of nine children of Wouter and Marita Van Rensselaer Van Twiller. He was a clerk in the warehouse of the Dutch West India Company, and was later employed by his uncle, Kilian Van Rensselaer, to ship cattle to his colony on the Hudson River.

He made two voyages to New Netherland in that service, and became somewhat acquainted with the geography of New York, and the condition of affairs, so that through Van Rensselaer's influence he was chosen in 1633 by the West India Company governor of New Netherland and sailed for Manhattan in the ship "Soutberg."

Director Van Twiller showed more energy in developing the colony than wisdom in dealing with men. He was an expert agriculturist and a shrewd diplomatist, but inexperienced in the art of government, slow in speech and incompetent to decide important affairs. His chief fault lay in being "a jolly good fellow." His chief business seems to have been to maintain the commercial operations of the West India Company, but he soon had he arrived that he became involved in quarrels with the English.

However much the English might crowd out the Dutchman in Connecticut or trespass upon New Netherland, Van Twiller had strict orders not to make war. Only a few days after his arrival he learned that the English traded wherever they pleased.

Jacob Eelkins built Fort Nassau (near Albany), in 1618, while in the employ of Dutch merchants from Amsterdam, and made a compact with the Indians and sold them firearms. On April 12, 1633, while in the employ of London merchants, Eelkins on a vessel named the "William" and flying the English flag, appeared on the Hudson. Van Twiller ordered him to come ashore. Eelkins obeyed, but claimed he was in Virginia and had a right to trade with the savages. Van Twiller denied this but allowed him to go on deck again.

Eelkins weighed anchor and proceeded up the river. Instead of firing on the poacher, Governor Van Twiller opened a barrel of wine on the river shore and invited everybody to drink at the company's expense. He proposed the health of Prince Frederick Henry and then confirmed the title to New Netherland property. Eelkins, however, was caught and expelled from the country in disgrace.

In 1632 the Dutch purchased from the Indians lands near what is now Saybrook, Conn., erected thereon the arms of the States-General, and on July 8, 1633, the West India Company bought the grounds where Hartford now stands, erected a fort which they called the House of Good Hope, and defended it with two cannons. The commandant was Jacobus Van Curler.

In October, 1633, Massachusetts laid claim to all the river and country of Connecticut under the grant of the King of England. Van Twiller courteously requested that the matter be settled by home authorities. But a few days later one William Holmes, with a resolute crew and a company of Indians, sailed up the river, and though threatened by Van Twiller, reached the present site of Windsor and erected there the first house that was built in Connecticut.

Van Twiller served a process on Holmes, and then besieged the trading-house with seventy soldiers, but was forced to withdraw and leave the English in peaceful possession.

Monday Is "Boy And School Day"

Monday will be "The Boy and the School Day" in Kingston. As a part of the program developed by the general committee, composed of representatives from the different civic and service organizations of the city.

Dr. M. J. Michael is arranging to have speakers in every school in the city on Monday morning at the opening assembly to speak to the students upon "The Boy and the School."

Business men of the city have been invited to participate in this feature. The object of this part of the week's program to be to impress upon the boys the value of education as a requisite in character building, and to cultivate on the part of the adults a deeper regard for the work of the schools.

It would be a splendid response to the program of the committee if each Parent-Teacher organization might have many of their members at this assembly in each school on Monday morning.

Sunday will be "The Boy and the Church Day," with special services in many of the city churches.

Industrial Game Is Deadlocked

E. & D. Nine and Municipal Team Battle Five Innings and Are Tied at 11 Points.

The Elster & Delaware Railroad team received a big shock Friday evening at the Athletic Field in an Industrial League game, the Municipal Nine pouncing on Hotelling for 11 hits and 11 runs, but the City players could not stand properly, and before the game was over the Railroaders tied the score and the game ended in a deadlock at 11 markers.

In the first inning with two men on bases McGrane caught hold of one of Hotelling's curves and cleaned the bags, scoring himself when the ball rolled to Jacobson's.

The second inning they added five more runs. Borho hit safe to right field. O'Neill's and Carney walked. Collins hit safe to right and scored. Borho and O'Neill. Lynch hit to right and Carney and Collins scored when the ball got away from Ertie. Lynch scored on E. Baker's single.

The U. & D. wore five runs behind when they came into bat for their last time. J. Long tripled to right field and scored on Carney's error. Black singled and Leskie doubled to right, scoring two more runs. Cause hit to right, scoring Leskie. Cause scored on a sacrifice hit.

Tagging Major League Bases

The Reds bowled over Brooklyn again, 8 to 5, Red Lucas, winning his own game with a triple after Luque was knocked out of the box. The Dodgers have lost five straight and Wilbert Robinson is worrying himself into a pantomime.

Pennock conducted the Yankees to their tenth consecutive victory as the Browns hit the dust again, 7 to 2. The winners were outbatted by Winger handed out more passes than a theatrical producer in search of publicity.

The Athletics lost to the Indians in the thirteenth inning, 4 to 3, and yielded third place to the Senators. Jamieson's single broke up the pastime.

Earl Sheeley of the White Sox collected a home run and three doubles but the Red Sox shelved Blankenship off the mound in the ninth, scoring three runs to win by a score of 8 to 7.

After losing four games in a row, Washington came to life and out-slugged the Tigers, 13 to 10. Fothergill got four hits.

With Paul Waner, coast rookie, collecting a homer, a double and a single, the Pirates scuttled the Giants 7 to 5. Jimmy Ring was pounded for four runs in two innings while Ray Kremer managed to survive several bartrages.

The Cubs did their shopping early and rambled home to a 6 to 3 decision over the Braves.

Philadelphia's outfielders ran themselves ragged as the slugging Cardinals massacred the Phils 12 to 4. Rhem allowed only four hits and won his seventh victory in eight starts.

Carpentier Bout A Tame Affair

Huffman Had the Fight in the Nineteenth But Let It Slip—George's Legs No Longer Spry—Huffman Was Not Aggressive.

By Davis J. Walsh.

New York, May 22.—Truth, sometimes, is a blunt weapon that hits one full upon the brow with convincing emphasis of a paving block, and the truth about last night's Carpentier revival, or what have you, at Madison Square Garden, is that the dear, old populace was taken for another hurdle race by this gay, young man from the boulevards of Paris. Georges can't fight a lick at this late stage of the proceedings.

He proved it last night through ten rounds of synthetic fighting. At the end they called it a draw, which was quite all right with me. It may have been a good draw but it was a bad fight.

Yet, the come-ons seemed to enjoy what they saw and just to prove that he still has the boys badly kidded, at least sixty per cent of the house was with Carpentier. Every time he lifted his right, they broke into wild cheers and a missed punch almost provoked a riot. Apparently America enjoys nothing better than being thoroughly fooled.

Ten thousand fans turned out to see this man, who had fought four fights in America and lost three of them. They didn't come to see Huffman, except as a sort of indispensable and necessary evil. Common sense, if any, would have told them that Carpentier was as far back as 1922 when the late Battling Siki knocked him out. Admittedly on this score was available from his fights with Gibbons and Tunney, to say nothing of the fact that he has been in the ring for nineteen years.

The evidence last night was overpowering in its conclusiveness. Carpentier's legs, once as sprightly as a ballet dancer's, no longer are even adequately spry. Some of their speed evaporated on Broadway's dance floors during recent months, the rest during years of road and ring work.

In the Dempsey fight, his right hand was almost faster than the eye. Last night, it was just an ordinary weapon. It had lost its speed, but most of all, its snap. A half dozen times during the fight, he hit Huffman on the chin with everything he had and the Californian didn't so much as blink.

In other words, Georges couldn't fight and for some reason Huffman didn't. If there was a decision to give, he should have had it, at that. But no great harm was done in any case. Huffman had the fight in the bag at the end of the seventh round but let Georges take the play away from him in the last three, just at a time when the younger man figured to sell himself to the judges completely.

Huffman fought a singularly un-aggressive fight in view of the fact that he hurt Georges badly about the body in the early rounds and had him rubber legged at the end of the fifth from a right to the body and a left to the jaw.

Thereafter, he fought at long range, for reasons best known to himself. Carpentier barely knows how to take care of himself inside and was a weary old man into the bargain but Huffman declined to become unduly familiar and, after leading with his left, went into the inevitable clinch.

Whereupon Georges became a bit mussy himself, leading numerous rights, wrestling, pulling and blugging his way into the lead through the last three rounds. Outside of the fifth round, neither was hurt as much as the writer and he was more pained than anything else.

However, as I said before, the boys went away cheering, so that seems to settle it. Carpentier has another shot in Philadelphia next month and I presume he will get away with it as handsily as he did last night.

America simply loves to fall for something, provided it isn't American.

Last Night's Fights.

At New York—Georges Carpentier and Eddie Huffman of California fought a ten round draw.

At Brown, New York bantam, knocked out Teddy Silva, California, three rounds.

Jack Dorral, New York heavy-weight, knocked out Dan Lieber, New York, two rounds.

At Fargo, Ind.—Billy Petrolle, Fargo, won from Dan Cooney, Treton, N. J., in the fourth round on a foul.

At Toronto—Charlie "Phil" Resenberg, bantamweight champion, knocked out Bobby Kier, champion of Canada, in the fifth round.

Finn Runner Night Favorite.

Boston, May 22.—With the crown of Harvard, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts Institute of Technology anxiously awaiting the start, the first big variety evening in this series was scheduled to be held on the Charles River this afternoon. The race will be held over the regulation half-mile course. Finn ruled a slight favorite to win by virtue of the great battle it put up against Yale two weeks ago, having being named out by the All-American.

At New York, May 22.—The crowd at the Madison Square Garden was estimated at 15,000 when the first of the three fights of the night was under way. The powerful Tale fight, which had Pennsylvania at the helm two weeks ago, was favored to triumph over Cornell and Princeton in the variety race. Charles "Pop" Leader's Cornell crew, entered as yet, is regarded as the dark horse of the race.

Evans Has Plan to Make Umpiring Easy

Umpiring made easy. If such a thing is possible, Billy Evans, famous American league umpire, believes he has the solution. Evans, who has served for 20 years in the American league and officiated in six world's series, has a new plan which he feels will greatly lighten the burdens of the baseball umpire.

It is a training school, a correspondence course in umpiring, that covers every situation that can come up on the ball field; clearly explains every rule and gives you the opinion of Evans as to how a ball game should be umpired.

Every umpire anxious to advance in a profession that offers big things should write Billy Evans at 1200 West Third street, Cleveland, for the complete details of this novel plan.

LEONARD COMING BACK TO FIGHT

Drawing Power as a Movie Star Has Vanished.

Benny Leonard, retired lightweight champion of the world, is going to return to the ring. That has been said before, but this time the announcement comes from a source that is thoroughly reliable. Benny has heard the call of the turnstiles, which is a way of saying that he has heard the ringing of the money bag.

Benny is coming back as a welterweight, although he still insists that he could make 135 pounds—the lightweight limit—if it were absolutely necessary. Leonard's next fight will be with Mickey Walker and the title involved will be the welterweight championship of the world, which the Jersey boy holds.

Leonard retired, he said, because the business of professional pugilism got on his mother's nerves. She asked him to quit the ring, and he did, taking to the more lofty business of the footlights.

The real reason for Leonard's retirement, however, could probably be attributed to two things. One was that he found it exceedingly difficult to make 135 pounds. The other was that he desired above everything else to retire from the ring undefeated. Leonard has said more than once that Jack McAuliffe, the retired and undefeated lightweight champion of the world, speaking of a generation ago, was a very wise man. This is what Benny had to say on that subject:

"There is no fighter in the world who won't meet his master some day or other if he sticks to the racket long enough. If I continue to fight as lightweight champion of the world I am certain that some boy would come along some day and get me. If I retire with the title I will always have an asset. I have got mine in a financial way. I don't need to worry. Why should I keep on until some kid comes along and smacks the old man on the chin?"

Finn Runner Will Make United States His Home

Albin Stenroos of Finland, who won the Olympic marathon race at Paris in 1924, has decided to remain in the United States as a member of the Finnish-American A. C.

Stenroos came to this country last winter after his countryman, Paavo Nurmi, had received ovation everywhere, but the long-distance man's successes were not numerous. In his first test, an hour's run at the Yankee stadium, New York, he beat the Boston star, Jimmy Hannon, by only 30 yards.

A month later the Finn, who is forty years old, was beaten by Charles Dwyer in a 15-mile race at Cambridge, Mass. Hannon took his measure at 15 miles in Boston in August and while Gordon of New York accompanied him at three miles in a New Haven race.

Stenroos lost two appearances gave him victories, one at Cambridge, Mass., where he defeated Dwyer in a 15-mile race, and again at Baltimore, February 22 this year, when he won the 10-mile modified marathon from a field of 65 runners, beating the former record for the distance held by Vasek Ruth, runner John Baptista star, by 25 seconds.

PONTIAC SIX

At the New York Automobile Show—a spectacular triumph! Wherever it has since been presented—a brilliant success! Here in town, a conquest of public opinion which excited interest to fever heat!

Three years ago General Motors determined to develop a Six, so high in quality and low in price, as to win instant public acceptance. To that end were devoted the almost limitless resources of the corporation. As a result, the Pontiac Six introduces into the field of low-priced sixes, features so new and unique, that a radical revision of the national idea on motor car values is already under way.

Sensible investors, the country over, are turning to a Six that offers beauty, bigness, comfort, stamina, quality and thrilling big-engine performance, for only $825—less than the cost of some four-cylinder cars. And there can be but one result—not enough cars to go around.

Arrange to place your order now. Assure yourself of getting delivery when you are ready to take it. Hundreds are going to be compelled to wait this spring. Now is the time for you to act!

Wayside Inn Opens May 28

Business Men of Ellenville to Hold Banquet in Hotel to Celebrate the Event—New York Men Take Over Inn Which Had Never Paid.

Wayside Inn at Ellenville will be formally re-opened on Friday evening, May 28, when the business men of Ellenville will celebrate the event with a banquet at the hotel.

In speaking of the re-opening of the Wayside Inn, the Ellenville Journal says:

"For three months now, three long and fruitful months, inhabitants of this valley have been standing back in a non-committal sort of way, waiting for things to happen. The very idea that a trio of New York boys could saunter into town and seriously consider the turning of our near-by well hotel into a bright and shining business proposition has been furnishing most of our immediate citizenry with some peering laughs."

The three New York city men who have made the re-opening of the Wayside Inn possible are M. J. Herzhfeld, Harry Epstein and A. H. Fayer.

Over a hundred of the business men of Ellenville and nearby places are expected to attend the banquet next Thursday evening. A committee of which M. E. Clark is chairman and composed of B. H. Terwilliger, S. A. Van Wagener, C. L. Divine, A. V. Hoochbeek and John Dunlop, is in charge of the plans for the celebration.

Why is a man respected? Isn't it always because he is polite, modest, honest, industrious, and contributes his fair share toward the general welfare? And if you have the respect of those with whom you come in contact, the going is much easier.

I do not greatly care for the one man strutting at the top, but sincerely admire the millions doing very well a little lower down. The number of men who get along well enough, in spite of bow legs, falling hair, and other human ills, is enormous.

Madam, does your husband bore you? Certainly. . . . But you probably bore him as much as he bores you. Often what a woman regards as her loveliest trait annoys her husband most. You may say the brute shouldn't be that way. But he is, so let us reason together more reasonably.

GOOD EATING

We all like chicken, and a different way to serve it will be welcomed.

Savory Chicken.—Cut a six-pound fowl into serving-sized pieces. Dredge with flour and saute in fat until well browned on both sides. Lay in a deep casserole and place around it one dozen small onions which have been peeled, three stalks of celery cut into inch pieces, two medium-sized carrots sliced. Sprinkle all with one teaspoonful of salt and pour three cupsful of strained tomato over the top. Dot the surface with one tablespoonful of butter, cover tightly and cook in a slow oven until the chicken is done and the vegetables are tender—from two to three hours will probably be needed for the cooking. Serve with boiled rice.

English Seed Cake.—Cream together two cupsful of sugar and one and one-fourth cupsful of butter. Add alternately eight well-beaten egg yolks and three cupsful of pantry flour with which one teaspoonful of cinnamon has been mixed; add one teaspoonful of lemon extract. Mix one cupful of flour with six ounces of sliced candied orange and lemon rind, one-half pound of citron and three-fourths of a pound of shredded almonds. Combine all the ingredients and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake for three to four hours in a pan which has been well greased and floured.

Cocoa Sponge Cake.—To the yolks of four eggs beaten thick and lemon colored, add one cupful of sugar and mix well. Add four tablespoonfuls of cold water. Measure and sift together one-half cupful of pantry flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one-half cupful of cocoa, and one-eighth teaspoonful of salt. Combine with the above, flavor with one teaspoonful of vanilla and lightly fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Bake in an oiled food pan for one hour, let when cool.

Summer Salad.—Mix mayonnaise and lettuce and serve with tender radishes and onions sliced over it. Serve with a French or any preferred salad dressing.

HOWE ABOUT—

By ED HOWE

(Copyright by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

What a great amount of disorderly living goes on in every neighborhood—in almost every household!

It is the great crime of humanity. Mothers spoiling children which might become a valuable asset to the community.

Husbands and wives wrangling to their own hurt.

Lack of thrift.

Lack of efficiency.

Lack of ordinary politeness.

Waste, waste, waste.

If a man steals a thousand dollars the loss is not great compared with every one in the community being somewhat disorderly.

If a man shoos another only two are harmed directly and a few others indirectly, and this happens only at rare intervals.

But disorderly living goes on in a community every day and night and every one engages in and suffers from it.

It is one thing that should cause us all to blush.

Why is a man respected? Isn't it always because he is polite, modest, honest, industrious, and contributes his fair share toward the general welfare? And if you have the respect of those with whom you come in contact, the going is much easier.
